

Road Scholars

Florida State University's series of talks by distinguished scholars from other institutions in the Atlantic Coast Conference

Fall 2020

Since the Fall of 2014, the Faculty Senate's Road Scholars Committee has been organizing and staging presentations for non-specialist audiences by outstanding scholars from other institutions in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The committee solicits input on prospective speakers; selects the speakers and coordinates with appropriate units to host or co-host the visit; and arranges for the venue and time for each speaker's visit, scheduling each close to the date of an athletic event involving the speaker's institution.

A note on the committee's history:

In March 2014, then-Faculty Senate president Gary Tyson created the Road Scholars Committee. He had contacted me three December 2013 -- having noticed that I had been FSU's faculty member whom Clemson University had invited to participate in their "Humanities Road Scholars" series that Fall -- to ask if I thought we might develop our own series along these lines. As I told him, Peggy Wright-Cleveland and I had already been comparing notes about just such a possibility, and when he asked if I would chair and help populate a Faculty Senate committee that would adapt this model, I was happy to agree. My committee colleagues and I've been acknowledging the fact that we learned about the idea from Clemson, where my counterpart in their English Department was emphasizing that it's not all about athletics. Hear hear!
